Are you worried about your child's future?

There's never been a more important time for young people and parents to get impartial help and advice about their future jobs and career options.

Hosted in a different country every two years, WorldSkills comes to the UK for the first time in 22 years. It will be the largest event ever held at ExCeL London and thcough its unique skills competitions, WorldSkills London 2011 will offer a one-stop-shop for everything you need to know about futuce skills, careers and jobs.

Who is it for?

WorldSkills London 2011 is open to everyone but it is particularly relevant to 14-19 year olds. Choosing a career is never straight forward(,)15( )71(c)1but making decisions is easier when family, carers, friends and teachers get involved.

Your passport to a great future

WorldSkills London 2011 is split into seven skill sectors and 46 skills, so your child is bound to find